in making imitations of Chinese vase, by pasting upon glass jars pictures resembling the figures upon those articles, and then painting the whole interior with whatever color they desire to form the ground-work. When skilfully made the imitations are as beautiful as the original. The parties seem to be a stumbling luxury of the season," and they are growing quite frequent. They pass off very pleasantly to all concerned, when the company happens to be harmonious and capable of distinguishing the boundary line between innocent hilarity and rudo and boisterous buffoonery. Of late, however, they seem to be composed of the wrong kind of material, and manage somehow or other to nearly always conclude the performances of the day with a grand row.—The presence of the police at these festivities seems to be necessary as a fire. The other day one took place in the Twentieth Ward, in which 2,000 persons participated, and a number of fights took place.

The Grand Jury has recently had further consideration the case of Jacob Schlegel charged with the murder of his wife, who was found dead on the outskirts of the city on Easter Sunday. The evidence against him is by no means conclusive, as the whole case is involved in mystery. The perpetrator of the crime, whatever he was, had his plan with much cunning, and it will be very difficult to disentangle the doubts which hang about the horrible transaction.

In a number of recent cases disinterments from old graveyards of this city, the corpses have been found to be in a singular state, produced by the peculiar nature of the soil. They have not been petrified or turned into stone, but into what地质ists adepose a substance resembling wax, and which it is said is inflammable. The same composition has been artificially produced by subjecting animal matter to the influence of a rushing stream.

Infanticide is growing to be a crime common here that every few days parties are arrested for it. The Mayor has recently committed the Grand-mother and reputed father of a young infant whose body was found in an old house, to answer the charge of murder.

Our money market is in quite a lousy ant condition. Nearly all descriptions of stocks have slightly advanced in price, and some of them have gone up amazingly. Money is plenty and easily to be had at the legal rate, or a trifle above it. From present appearances the tight times are over, and every branch of business will speedily become as ever.

The North Pennsylvania Railroad has been completed to a point nineteen miles above this city by Montgomery County, and will be formally opened for travel on Tuesday next. We are now becoming fairly surrounded with a series of railroads, pouring into every direction, and after the completion of the roads now in process of construction, Philadelphia will be as well supplied in this respect as any city in the Union.

TAYLOR WELL STATED.—We print today the main portion of a letter of Professor Longstreet, and desire to call the particular attention of our readers to it, as a bold and manly exposition of the infamous and corrupting tendencies of know nothingism.

Professor Longstreet is one of the most eloquent and popular divines in the southwestern States, and has long been considered the head of the Methodist Church in that section of the country. He exposes with a bold and masterly hand the awful consequences that must evidently follow the success of this God-defying, infidel combination.

"In July last, I had just heard of a new organization in the country—secret in its movements, and going under the name of know nothing. Its principles I understood to be in opposition to Catholics and foreigners, to be planned in the dark, strengthened by oaths, and manifested at the ballot-box. It filled me with alarm.

I saw in it the elements of rapid expansion and awful explosion. I exhibited them to the class that graduated in that month, and forewarned them to have nothing to do with it. Had I been inspired, I could hardly have foreseen and ad its history more accurately than I did. Of my prediction, nothing remains to be fulfilled but the outpouring of more blood. My forecast in relation to it ought to insure respect for my judgment, in and about Oxford at least; but it is the very foreseen which is raising a buzz of disquiet against me in this vicinity now. This is the sin which brought out against me the recondite press which I have named above. It is called 'dabbling in politics,' but its true name is 'Unpalatable Truth.' This is the sin for which I am soon perchance to be sacrificed. They that stoned the prophets of old are yet alive, and why should I expect a better fate than theirs? Well, I do not know that a better use could be made of my old enemies than the offering of it upon the altar of this 'American' Baal.

An incease might arise from it that would do more to purify the Church and the State from this modern abomination than anything which can emanate from my poor foreseen brain. The public has now the sum total of my political aims, public and private. I shall speak at large of the new order in an appeal to my Church at some future day, if I may be allowed to do so. I am committed against it, and I shall oppose it forever—not in the class-room, but everywhere else; not as a partisan, but as a Christian. This the patrons of the anti-slavery should know. For all the hypocrites, emulators of earth I could not be induced to assume a position of neutrality in regard to it. If all experience be not a false hood, and all history a fable, it will throw this country into complete convulsions. If it is not crushed, and that speedily.

In my view every man who has a people's influence should rise against it—immediately, ere it be forced to do so. Indeed, it allows no neutrality. With its professed Americanism it assumes an absolute dictatorship. It will fully, thoughtfully, prayerfully, take no man's or woman's purity or its policy. It gets into its pale of illegitimacy, talent, and piety, preachers and teachers, and with the like. And it deprives, abandoned, desperate, God defying sinners upon earth; binds them by paths in bonds of fellowship, and sets them all to work in politics, and nothing but politics. I find a Christian brother among them; I read 1 Cor. vi. 13 and our Lord bade him to come out from such associations; and it addresses me in tones of despotic authority on this wise:—'Sir, my name is Politics; you are a clergyman, and clergymen should have nothing to do with politics!' 'Right,' cries my brother; 'old man; you'll ruin yourself if you meddle with politics!' 'I say to him, 'your oats are against the laws of God and your Church.' 'Sir,' it responds, 'do you thus disown the place of my order? Have you an report for the Church or your place?' I denounce the sinners of the land and the saints reprove me. I reprove the saints and disown the sinners of the land; and this is the way in which obnoxious professors are commonly attacked. Be it so. I have done my duty, and I leave the consequences with God. And here I sign my name to what I deem the best legacy that I could leave to my children—a record proof that neither place, nor policy, nor temporal interest, nor friendships, nor church, nor threatening storms from every quarter could move their father for an instant from principle, or aye him into silence when the cause of God and his country required him to speak.

AGUSTUS B. LONGSTREET.
Winches Arkansas.
Under this head an article was lately written and published by Gen. Flournoy, in the Georgetown Herald. We then thought and still think, that so noble a production has rarely if ever, appeared in a newspaper, and we did intend to give our opinion of it; at some length, but we have just met with a letter from Judge Swan, which is at once so beautiful and so prompt, that we cannot deny ourselves the honor of inserting it in the Journal. We have not a word to say of the author; it is altogether needless. Judge Swan is known to the literary world, and he is known every where, about as well as the State of Ohio. There is not a man on this continent whose opinion is entitled to more respect. But we will not detain the reader from the letter itself.—Journal, COLUMBUS, Ohio, 21st June '55.

GEN. T. C. FLOURNOY:
My Dear Sir.—Accept my thanks for your "Loreonia" which I have read with great pleasure. You have done ample justice to the much abused Beotians. But what gave me most pleasure was your admirable, and for beauty and pathos unsurpassed description of the death of the "Ghoreters." I am altogether sincere when I say there is nothing to be found in the English language better expressed or more sounding. All I could wish is that the author of the tragedy had had somebody else than the one who has so beautifully and pathetically described it. I know, however, you would not have touched the trigger had you anticipated the consequences. Do, pray, throw your reflections into some more durable form, write a book and send me a copy? I shall preserve the paper. It deserves permanency as much as Storno's Marin, the best scene between Uncle Toby and Trim, or the "Caged Starling." It is an idea, a new sentimental idea, before unknown to ornithologists. Give us more such, my dear sir, give us more!

I am truly yours,
G. SWAN.

HINDOO SECRET CIRCULAR.

Below we give our readers the last Bill put out by the Frankfort clique. It is a precious document, and we commend its careful perusal to the Democracy.—Our readers may rely upon its authenticity, which has not up to this time, although read publicly in Frankfort, been questioned or denied. It comes to us from other tis from those of the know nothings. Throw one sacred element into your combustible combination that shall prevent it from setting fire to our schools and colleges." Mississippians, fathers, Whig fathers—know nothing fathers—picture to yourselves your son, not yet out of his teens, standing amidst a motley group; gathered from every grade of society, with one hand on the left breast and the other 'up' bearing the flag of his country, while some wretch, perchance from the sinks of society, fattens him with oil, which are to seal his independence, freedom of speech, freedom of action, and freedom of suffrage forever!

If this does not drive Christians out of the order, welcome he may to their religion! If this does not unite every father on solid phalanx against it, let no man cover a place in a school or college in Mississippi. You, verily, I am in my "dodge." I am a raving madman, or the like. I am a raving madman, or the like. Such is the order of which I may not speak at all, or only in court phrase!

Now, gentlemen editors, and know nothing, you have something sensible and tangible to harp upon without resorting to rumor. I am against you for life. You speak at me as though you supposed it would distress me sorely to loose my place, you are mistaken, sir; I was twice on the point of resigning it, but by earnest treaty was induced to retain it. Be assured, gentlemen, after filling five chairs for five years, and performing a duration enough to wear out most men in that time, I will not give me a right to relinquish it. Never will I hold it upon condition that I must treat know nothingism with respect.

The time and place of making nominations, must be made known to the chiefs of clans, ten days beforehand, and must be made known to members at least one day beforehand. The 1st of May is the day to keep open one week after the day of voting for President, to allow the absentees to vote. After that time, no votes must be counted by a committee of three. Each member must write his name on the ballot, with the name of the person for whom he votes. The committee reports the result to the Council.

Each one must see that all the members of his district cast their votes. He must report to the Council, the names of those persons who do not, for consideration.

2. Presidents of Councils, and appoint a committee of vigilance to attend the polls and challenge all voters offered illegally.

3. All candidates are allowed to discuss publicly, the principles of the Order, if the Conventions nominating them so direct. Public discussion is advised.

4. The county Presidents, must decide all disputes in regard to the laws and usages of the Order, and his decision must stand until overruled by the Grand President or Grand Council, or Executive Committee upon appeal. The county President must also see that all persons are enrolled in the districts in which they reside. They must also certify at the end of every quarter, the number in each Council in his county.

5. Having a Catholic wife does not now disqualify any such person from becoming a member of the Order.

6. Nominations for county and district officers in a county, may be made ten days only, before election. The committee in selecting a candidate for Governor, looked alone to qualification and the general good of the Order, and they hope for the approval of the Order, generally. So far as we have heard, the nomination has been enthusiastically ratified. The committee advise you to have every speech of the anti-American answered by some one: Virginia was lost by a silent cause. The position of Kentucky has always been powerful, conservative, and patriotic, and on the side of the Union. We exhort you therefore, to go to work zealously and fearlessly; let us all do our duty, and in August next, show a majority that will cheer the hearts of our friends throughout the Union. If our principles are thoroughly discussed and made known, we cannot fail of success. Our information from all quarters, is of the most cheering character. But we must not be too confident, and go to sleep on our posts. Our enemies are in the field. Let us buckle on our armor, and strike in defense of our homes and our children. God and our native land.

P SWIGERT, Chairman.

The living.—The recent attack on an English boat crew, at Hockley, under a flag of truce, causes much excitement in England.

The unprejudiced supposition is, that the Russians supposed the boat was taking soundings, as recently was done at Kertch.

The Russian account, in the Invalid Ruse, says two were killed and the remainder are prisoners.

ATROPHY.—Russian influence is very active, even in the smallest German Courts.

The Journal of St. Petersburg publishes semi-official discussion of Count Wolawski's French circular of May the 20th.

The Journal also semi-officially says that once a possible, if France and England are willing, inasmuch as the 4th point to merely, although not formally, dissolved—end the other points, viz: Navigation of the Danube, and the evacuation of the Principality, are also settled—leaving only the Vienna third point to be strangled.

The Anatolian army being disbanded, the reduction is great and rapid.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The steamer Herkman carried out intelligence of the presentation to Parliament of the report of the Roebuck Committee. The report merely admits that the sufferings of this army have been aggravated by incompetency at home.

Since then there has been considerable excitement created by Mr. Roebuck, in consequence of his report being overruled, by the other members of the committee, they having given notice of a censure on the Government, so as to embrace the grievances of all sections of the opposition.

The debate on Administration Reform, after repeated adjournments, ended in the unanimous passing of Sir Bulwer Lytton's resolutions, that the House of Commons recommends to the earliest attention of the ministers, the necessity of a careful revision of the various official establishments. Mr. Buchanan read the degree of Doctor of the Law, the University of Oxford, as also did Justice Robinson, of Canada, Sir Chas. Lyall, Alfred Tennyson, &c. The admiralty have awarded 16,000 pounds sterling to the sailors of the ship Jemee Chestin.

FINANCE.—The Senate and Legislature are convoked for July 21, to negotiate a new loan of one hundred or one hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Louis Napoleon has been ill for 2 days but has recovered. The French funds sell 2 per cent on the announcement of his illness.

SPAIN.—Disturbances at San Diego have been suppressed. We have no reliable statement respecting the Carlist insurrection. Russia is expected of being the instigator. Mr. Dodge had his interview with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and friendly remarks were exchanged.

MR. ROEBUCK'S TWO FACTS.—A gentleman from Marion county informed us yesterday, that Mr. Morehead, in his speech in that county (where there are 5,000 Catholic voters,) utterly repudiated the Catholic test, and declared that he would not hesitate to vote for such a man as Bishop Spaulding—that he viewed him as a true patriot, &c., and with uplifted hands, appealed to God to witness that he protested against the anti-Catholic clause of the platform.

Another gentleman from Barren county (where there are no Catholics), informed us, last week, that Mr. Morehead, in his speech in that county, was very bitter against Catholics; and declared his conviction that they were dangerous to the liberties of the country.

Here is a wide difference, and we leave it to the public to settle the question of Mr. Morehead's honesty and sincerity. We suppose that Roman Catholics will kindly give Mr. Morehead credit for a great deal of sincerity, when they know that he is a member of the know nothing fraternity, and has TAKEN AN OATH TO PROSCRIBE CATHOLICS!—Times.

It is said that Burnam's receipts during his "Baby show" in New York, were $70,000. The exhibition, disgusting as it was, lasted five days.

Public Speaking.

Hon. Thos. F. Marshall will address the people of Scott County at the Court House on Monday next (county court day) at 2 o'clock P. M.

We have met with a Carus minor in the literary world! It is a poet, who, although errors occurred in his production, does not get into pet, and threaten to stop his paper! This altogether beats the wonders in the vegetable world, which we have hitherto recorded, and proves conclusively to our mind, that 1855 is the year of the 19th century. We shall mark it with a white stone, for Solomon himself, had he edited a paper in our day, would have been compelled to admit, that this is "a new thing under the sun!" and therefore, as we have already proclaimed, him, a veritable miracle in nature! All honor to our poetic friend, who so justly appreciates the labors of the craft and so placidly passes them over. Should he live a thousand years, and cultivate the muses, with equal ability it will afford us pleasure provided we publish a paper that long, to find a place in our humble hebdominal for his talented contributions.

Those preserves recently received by Sam. Keene are going off like hot cakes, and those who wish to take advantage of the season by putting up preserves, vegetables, &c. for a rainy day, had better be out-hand at an early hour, lest they lose the opportunity, of procuring a supply of those invaluable self-preserving preservatives. We have tried them and know their value. By the bye, Sam has on hand, some very fine preserves, pickles, Brandy Peaches, &c. which he wishes to sell out almost next to nothing in order to make way for fresh supplies of the luxuries. Look at his advertisements if you wish to find every thing in his line, and something more, cheap for cash or on credit, to punctual customers; for he is one who has faith in the benefits of liberal advertising; and hence, that "a nimble expence is better than a slow shilling!"

P. M. Since the above paragraph was printed, we have seen some of the preserving cans at the store of T. S. Blackley & Co., which cost more, but have some decided advantages over the others, which we have noticed.

We are indebted to various friends for liberal supplies of the fruits of this generous season, in the shape of vegetables of every variety—the last receipt of this character, from an esteemed friend, was a fine mess of roasting ears—the first of the season, for which, as well as numerous favors of a similar kind, our thanks are due and hereby tendered.

The National Flag.

We have just received the first number of the National Flag, published at Bloomington, Ill., by our old friend, Samuel Pike. It is a large sized, hand-some printed sheet; of the editorial talent exhibited in its columns we say nothing; to speak nothing of that would be to "gold refined gold; paint the lily;" &c. everybody hereabouts knows the old fish (we use the term with due respect) is fully competent and well qualified for the discharge of editorial duties. Suffice it to say that he continues, as heretofore, to advocate national Democratic principles; in the advocacy of which we sincerely wish him political and pecuniary success; his personal friends in this region will be pleased to learn that his health which suffered when he was here, has been entirely restored.

The following gentlemen have been appointed by the Bank of Kentucky directors of the Branch in this city: Henry Hall, Esq., President; and Messrs. John Gary, Joseph Watson, John M. Ferguson, and J. Hunter, George W. Bratt, and James O. Harrison, Directors.

Auditor's Reports.

We are indebted for a copy of this able and valuable report, to its author, our esteemed personal friend, Thos. S. Page. Esq., a very clever gentleman, notwithstanding the fact that he is a veritable political Know Nothing—a fact which surprises us a little; it is indeed a matter of surprise and sincere regret on our part, that so clever, deserving and intelligent a gentleman, one so capable of appreciating facts and figures should have condescended to attach himself to a party, the members of which, are avowed No Nothings in fact and in practice—most and in all, and who have recently, by permission of the Grand Jynx, announced the mortifying fact to their more intelligent and patriotic fellow citizens. For this inconsistent, unwise and nefarious crime, we fear that our esteemed friend, when he leaves this sublimer place of tears, will be compelled to make reports in a much hotter place than Frankfort. Ay, we even fear that he, in company with many other knowledgent Unknol friends, will verify the prediction of Scott's favorite poet, with regard to another rampant Know Nothing, who has recently, by permission of the Grand Jynx, announced the mortifying fact to their more intelligent and patriotic fellow citizens. To APPRENTICE. — When serving your apprenticeship you will have time and opportunity to stock your minds with much useful information. The only way for a young man to prepare himself for usefulness, is to devote himself to study during leisure hours. First, be industrious in your business, be frugal, be economical, never overstrain that you are obliged to work, and with industry and cheerfulness, and it will become a habit which will make you respected by your master or employer, make it your business to see and promote his interest; by taking care of his, you will learn to take care of your own. Young men at the present day, are too fond of getting rid of work; they seek for easy and lazy employments, and frequently turn out miserable vagabonds. You must avoid all wishes to live without labor; labor is a blessing instead of a curse; it makes health, happiness, and every other thing necessary for man, and frees him from temptation to his dishonesty.

An UNFORTUNATE ROOSTER.—There are objections to Shanghai, no doubt, but we had never thought of this. It is very curious, but it is true. The way of it was this: Mr. S., an old resident of Stillwater, on the upper Hudson, introduced among his family of hens a few Shanghai, including a rooster of formidable dimension, who had "run to legs" a good deal. His crow was peculiar, and easily distinguished from that of the other cocks. One morning he had waited to hear a repetition of the usual summons, after being aroused by the "shriek clarion" once sounded, but he heard it not again. The other roosters were doing their best, but the pre-eminent chantecler was still. Mr. S. went out to see what had caused the silence. He found the rooster lying on his back, with both legs out of joint. After an examination, he set both legs; the cock walked off, and gave vent to his satisfaction in a lusty crow. In the very net he dropped as if he had been shot. He had crowded his legs out again. He was kept three or four days and then killed. "It was too much trouble," said Mr. S., "to set him up every time he crowed!" — Knickerbocker.

A day or two ago we published a letter from Evansville noticing the arrest and fining of a man who had been selling liquor from a flatboat tied to the Kentucky shore, the purchaser taking it to Indiana. The Justice, after arguments by several counsel as to the jurisdiction of Indiana in the case, decided that, in criminal cases, Kentucky and Indiana had concurrent jurisdiction over the Ohio, and the offense was a violation of the Indiana prohibitory law, and fined the defendant $20 for the first offense and $10 for the second offense, who, in default of the payment of the fine, was committed. Another man was tried on a similar charge and fined. These decisions involve an important principle. For our part we cannot perceive how a steamboat, flatboat or any other craft, tied to the Kentucky shore, can be considered amenable to the State of Indiana.—Lex. Journal.
